1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Pursuant to the provisions of Section 32 of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa Act, 1996 (Act No.108 of 1996), the Promotion of Access to Information Act, of 2000 ("the Act") was promulgated in order to foster a culture of transparency and accountability in public and private bodies, by giving effect to the right of access to information, and actively promote a society in which the people of South Africa have effective access to enable them to more fully exercise and protect all of the rights as enshrined in the Constitution. The Act further stipulates that national legislation must be enacted to give effect to this right in Section 32 of the Constitution.

1.2 The Act establishes voluntary and mandatory mechanisms or procedures to give effect to the constitutional right to information in a manner which enables persons to obtain records of public bodies as swiftly, inexpensively and effortlessly, as reasonably possible and generally to promote transparency, accountability and effective governance of all public and private bodies by, including, but not limited to, empowering and educating everyone:

1.2.1 To understand their rights in terms of the Act, in order to exercise their rights in relation to public and private bodies;

1.2.2 To understand the functions and operation of public bodies; and

1.2.3 To effectively scrutinise, and participate in decision making by public bodies that affect their rights.

1.3 Section 9 of the Act, however, recognizes that such right to access to information is subject to certain justifiable limitations including, but not limited to:

1.3.1 The reasonable protection of privacy;

1.3.2 Commercial confidentiality; and

1.3.3 Effective, efficient and good governance.

1.4 Section 14 of the Act obliges public bodies to compile a Manual that provides information on both the types and categories of records held by the public or private body. The Act also stipulates the minimum requirements with which such Manual has to comply.

1.5 This document serves as the PIC Manual in terms of the Act, and provides a reference as to the records held and the process that needs to be followed to request access to such records, thus giving effect to section 14 of the Act.

1.6 Should you have any difficulty in using this guide, do not hesitate to contact the relevant Deputy Information Officer, described in paragraph 8 hereunder.

Current mandates do not allow for investment in foreign instruments. The PIC is authorised to invest in debt issued by the South African government, parastatals, corporates and securitisation vehicles.

Most of the money market investments are with the top 5 South African banks. In addition, the PIC invests with the larger corporates, parastatals, securitisation vehicles and smaller banks, depending on their national credit rating.
